

critic corrected

Sunday (11/18) your art critic, Tacy Bowman Maguire, writes: " 'I Walked the Picket Line' by Jean Noguchi is a handsome batik wall hanging. It is as Rousseau as Jean Jacques Rousseau was in any of his jungle paintings."

Methinks your art critic confuses two very different geniuses — Jean Jacques Rousseau, the French philosopher, 1712-1778, and Henri Rousseau, the French painter, 1844-1910.
